

POLICE SPEECH ABOUT THE RISKS IN SOCIETY FOR TEENAGERS: DRUGS, BULLYING, STREET BANDS, DANGERS OF INTERNET

The police came to our school to give us a speech on the dangers in society for teenagers.

First, they commented about the school environment, it is very important to have a good school environment for a good development of people personality. Other item is aggressiveness. It is a thing that we have from our birth but in some people it develops too much and the result is violence; it also develops race violence, a dramatic item that is always present on television, newspapers, and the news.

Drugs also influence on people. There is no difference between soft drugs and tough drugs because both cause addition and irreversible damages for humans' health. People call soft drugs to tobacco and alcohol, and tough drugs to cannabis, cocaine, heroine, etc; but the police said that if you start taking cannabis you finish taking heroine and more dangerous drugs.

They also talked about street bands that influence people to have a bad behaviour.

And finally, internet, it is a great place where you can find all type of information and useful news, but here are people interested in using internet to cause damage, for example old people who chat with children. We should not give personal information on chats or public websites, it can be dangerous for us and our family.

We have to communicate and report all strange situations we see or we live.

Last Friday my friends and I attended a speech on the social dangers. The speech was exposed by a policeman who I spoke to us on the aggressiveness as the main reason of all the consequent problems since he believes there is an emptiness in the own person and in his environment. This impedes the social relations for what the person becomes more aggressive. I liked this information because I did not know it before.

Later he spoke to us about bullying which many children suffer in the high schools or in their social life and they are isolated by other partners in the class. He also spoke to us about the street bands that frighten others and they can end committing drug dealing or other crimes.

Finally the policeman spoke on the dangers that the internet use carries on youngsters since these can be defrauded or threatened by many types of people who only care about their personal well-being.

The speech was very interesting and entertaining for me and it was very easy to catch the messages that they wanted to transmit and in addition it allowed us to learn new social problems and to be able to avoid them.

On 7th May, that is last Friday, two policemen from Torre Pacheco police station gave us a speech about issues of actuality such as drugs, the dangers of internet, street bands and other issues.

They showed us a PowerPoint. In this report they explained the different kinds of drugs for example alcohol, heroine, tobacco and many others.

They also talked about the dangers of internet when they showed the dangers of several windows, for example: sects, pornography. The policeman explained that a lot of people do windows which are a fake.

In the PowerPoint they also talked about bad groups or associations when it showed different groups and street bands.
